Programme Code: CDF100

The Professional Certificate Programme in Career Development Facilitation (PCCDF) is an extended scheme of study building on the Facilitating Career Development (FCD) programme (see P81). It integrates global perspective with local context on career development facilitation and extends participants' repertoire with a wider focus on the provision of better career services and programmes through more training in group facilitation, advanced communication skills, assessment tools, theories and approaches, and the needs of specific targets.

One Programme, Three Certifications

The PCCDF Programme provides solid training that qualifies students to apply for two globally recognised certifications upon completion of the programme:

Certified Career Services Provider (CCSP) from the National Career Development Association (NCDA)

Global Career Development Facilitator (GCDF) from the Center for Credentialing and Education (CCE)

Plus

a Professional Certificate at QF level 5 awarded by The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Taught by NCDA-credentialed Master Trainers and FCD Instructors, as well as experienced CUSCS trainers who are professionals from a diversity of career background, the PCCDF Programme is offered in a flexible, hybrid mode consisting of both face-to-face and online learning modes with experiential activities and interactive discussions.

Building on our extensive experience in providing training in career development and facilitation, CUSCS introduces the Facilitating Career Development (FCD) Programme for the first time in Hong Kong. Under the National Career Development Association (NCDA) of the United States, which is the first, longest running and preminent career development association in the world, the FCD Programme is based on a comprehensive curriculum that represents a rich content coverage through substantial material development in the training modules.

One Programme, Two Certifications

The FCD Programme provides solid training that qualifies students to apply for two credentials upon completion of the programme:

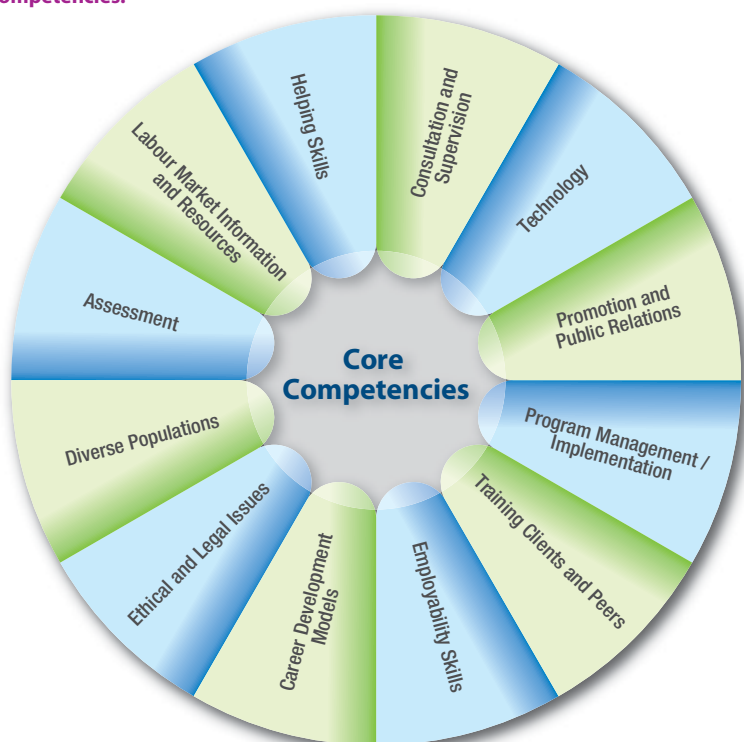

Certified Career Services Provider (CCSP) from the National Career Development Association (NCDA)

Global Career Development Facilitator (GCDF) from the Center for Credentialing and Education (CCE)

Taught by NCDA-certified Instructors trained in the delivery of the curriculum, the FCD Training Programme in Hong Kong is offered in a flexible, hybrid mode consisting of both face-to-face (6 days) and online learning (60 hours) modes with experiential activities and interactive discussion.

The FCD Programme prepares participants for understanding and mastery of the following competencies:

Content Modules

- Helping Relationship and Skills
- Training and Leading Groups
- Career Development Theory and Its Applications
- Role of Assessment
- Ethical & Legal Issues
- Career Facilitation Strategies to Diverse Populations
- Role of Career Information and Technological Resources
