

English Pronunciation Online Workshop

In this online workshop, students will learn more about English pronunciation features such as sounds and stress. You will find out which pronunciation features are important for mutual understanding. Common pronunciation mistakes among students in Hong Kong will be discussed.

Upon completing the course, students will:

- learn about and practice consonant and vowel sounds;
- improve their English pronunciation by learning significant features such as word stress, intonation, and connected speech; and
- be able to identify common pronunciation mistakes and know how to correct them.
